

Welcome!

THE ANNOUNCEMENT WE PROMISED ABOUT YOUR DENTAL BENEFITS – we realize that the economic slump has had a harsh effect on many, and that budget priorities have moved dental check-ups down on some folks' lists. To make things easier, we will now let you have your insurance company pay us, and we will bill you the difference, rather than having to plunk-down the whole visit fee out of your pocket.

ADDITIONALLY – IF YOU DON'T HAVE DENTAL BENEFITS – for a limited time only we are opening our doors to you with an enrollment plan that will take care of dental hygiene needs for a 33% discount off our usual fee. For more information click here.

In an effort to make this very concise, my monthly newsletter is like an annotated issue of Cliff's Notes. There are a lot of facts to be covered, but not all facts can be explained in the space or time allotted. For that reason, there are embedded hypertext links (blue ink) which allow you to explore further.

Regular readers know that I have many causes for concern, and that's what makes me write. These newsletters are not meant to promote my practice, but more to educate people that they need to be very careful about the choices they make, because they do not always get the full story (truth) from industry and government. Please be sure to forward it on to your friends who might appreciate learning the truth.

It all began with my awakening 20+ years ago with the understanding that the American Dental Association was lying to dentists and the public about the alleged safety of mercury in dental fillings. The FDA, despite their scientific panel supporting the theory by our organization of anti-mercury dentists that mercury doesn't belong in human mouths, continues to support the use of mercury (the most potent naturally-occurring toxin on the planet) in treatment.

In the past I have spoken about the over-vaccination of American children and the interrelationship between vaccination and neuro-toxic diseases like Guilliane-Barre' Syndrome and autism. Last month I wrote about the high level of corruption at the FDA to have allowed GMO (Genetically Modified Organisms). If you still know nothing about this issues, you must begin your discovery here.

And so, last week my system was shocked once again, when I learned that the FDA has now allowed for the manufacture of GMV's (Genetically Modified Vaccines). I encourage you all to make your decisions very carefully about what you allow in your body, and to use your computers to further explore these issues.

Julia's Corner - GMO food, now GMV vaccinations! It is scary to think what will come next!!

As many of you realize by now, I promote keeping the immune system healthy by eliminating toxins of all types and keeping inflammation down-regulated. I have not had a flu shot in several decades. It is MY choice and based on MY health status. Some employers require it so you may not have a choice. Some of you have health issues and you feel it is necessary for YOU. But I and now many of my clients elect to do a specific protocol annually to prevent flu completely, or substantially modify intensity and duration if contracted. I use 2 specific protocols for prevention (double protection) and 2 specific protocols if symptoms of onset begin. As it is documented, even with vaccination, getting the flu is possible.

This protocol starts in October each year, just prior to onset of major flu season. Many of my clients continue to report success annually even when flu is rampant in their household.

So again, I stress the importance of keeping the immune system strong. And should you choose to not get vaccinated, whether with the new GMV or standard flu vaccines, consider working with a knowledgeable practitioner (myself included) for a healthier flu free season.

You may contact me at DrJuliaScalise@aol.com or by calling 856 745 2430 for further information on flu season support.

Wishing you continued health and well-being,
Dr. Julia Scalise

POLITICS AS USUAL

I end this rant with one further development: While Congress was hard at work battling on pseudo-issues they agreed on one thing again recently. They passed the Monsanto-Protection Act. Want to learn more, click here? That the developer of GMO's, Monsanto Corporation, to avoid being sued for damages by anyone contending that GMO's caused their medical problems. So now, the Federal Government has extended to Monsanto the same protections that they extended to vaccine manufacturers a decade ago.

If you want to learn more about Monsanto Lawsuits in Europe click here. How is it that all of Europe knows that Monsanto poses significant health problems to mankind, yet here in America we know nothing about it. You owe it to all of your friends and family to share these concerns with them.

This quote from The Huffington Post, and a link to further information ends this article:

Monsanto is the tip of the iceberg representing the threat that unchecked corporate power has in corrupting our democratic institutions, driving family farmers off the land, threatening human health and contaminating our environment.

The problem with Monsanto is not just their corrosive lobbying practices, but the fact that the products they produce, genetically engineered foods and chemical weed killers, are in more than 70% of the processed foods that we eat and feed our families every day.

POLITICALLY INCORRECT – I went out on a limb last issue, and included some political information. I didn't get myself into any trouble, so I wanted to throw this one out. Don't you hate it when politicians say one thing during the campaign, and then another once they're elected? Now how about if they're using our tax money to insure their re-election. Jon Stewart exposes Governor Christie (who despite my early misgivings, has been a great ombudsman for our state) in this rant (before you click, be aware that Jon does use profanity which is blipped) click here

I was going to write, "Let me know what you think." Instead, I looked to see if there were any petitions on this to sign. There are; click here.

How long are we going to tolerate a Congress that does absolutely nothing relevant? Again, another rant from The Daily Show (blipped profanity warning) from Tuesday June 25th. Click here.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

The response to the June Newsletter was very heartwarming to me. Joe Capik wrote - Best newsletter ever! I know as a businessman you've shied away from talking politics - but you did a great job in a bi-partisan way. Keep up the good work!

Kathe Stepanuk wrote - Hi Dr. Markus,

I wanted to let you know how much I enjoy your newsletters! They are clearly well thought out and certainly thought provoking. You're not afraid to tackle sensitive and controversial topics. Are you a child of the 60's by chance?? Unlike newsletters I've received in the past from dental professionals, yours are not boring nor only dental focus, although certainly related as clearly our physical health and dental health are intradependent.

As I was reading your postings on antibiotics, I was made aware of an article in NY Times by Michael Pollan of the Omnivore's Dilemma and his recent Cooked. Here is the url:

EDITOR'S NOTE – This is a fascinating article that adds further insight into why we want to keep antibiotics out of our systems as much as possible, and also begs the question: What will GMO's do our ability to adapt as the sea of toxins we're all awash in as this microbiome is destroyed by RoundUp.

The DIRTY DOZEN and the CLEAN FIFTEEN – Ever wonder which foods you should shop for organically, and which don't matter? Here's your answer

My Golf Blog – Inside the Ropes (photograph is something I stitched together from three shots taken in Palm Desert, CA).

Did you get to Merion for the OPEN? Lady Merion certainly brought the tour players to their knees. I promised in the last issue I had a Merion story for you: My first time there, on a hot summer's day, I hit 7 iron across the quarry on 16 to the green. The club went flying out of my hands and it took us 15 minutes until we finally found it in the quarry.

Do you know the rules? My wife and I were playing with a stranger at Harbortown in Hilton Head. This other guy took at least six practice swings before every shot. My wife shanked a shot which managed to cross the path precisely at the bottom of his fifth practice swing and the ball ended up re-routed to the green. What are her options.

So this also sort of happened to Carl Petterssen at Merion last week. Pause it before they tell you what the ruling is and think about what the Royal and Ancient would do? Watch it now!

SPECIAL THANKS TO DAVE HEILMANN FOR THE GREAT JOB HE DID ON THE PLANTINGS AROUND OUR SIGN – DAVE, AND DJ'S LAWNCARE HAVE BEEN TAKING CARE OF MY LANDSCAPING FOR OVER 35 YEARS.

Have a great day!
